WELCOME TO BALMORAL HALL

The Classy People

The new and easy way to locate the people that you saw everyday in 1986 is to look them up in BH's new handy dandy "Classy People" section, starting on page 9.

Down Memory Lane

Do you remember all those fun events that made your school life more exciting? They're all here in chronological order, so that when your memory is refreshed, you won't get confused. Page 25.

Things We Did

Were you a member of Student Council or a recipient of the Duke of Edinburgh Award? Have you forgotten who else was? To find out, turn to page 39. Also watch for Junior School clubs in this section.

Teaming Up

Because we all know that academics aren't everything, this section has been devoted to those people that "played for fun". That is, all the curlers, cross-country runners, volleyball players, etc. If you want to score a basket, make a pass at page 55.

The Live Ins

Under the watchful eye of the caring Mrs. Osborne, some of BH's family endeavored to get a better education by staying at the school 24 hours a day!! Well, since Res life was obviously a major concern to these girls, this section has been dedicated to them in the hope that we will all gain a little insight. Starts on page 49.

The End of the Road

Each year, there are some excellent pieces of literature that must be recorded because they are symbolic of a particular year. To see what these are as well as to read what the Grade 12's have to say about each other, turn to page 69.

IN DEDICATION . . .

Give us, O give us, the man who sings at his work!
Be his occupation what it may, he is equal to any of those who follow the same pursuit in silent sadness.
He will do more in the same time - he will do it better -
he will persevere longer.

- Carlyle

The inscription above hangs suitably mounted and framed overlooking the Headmaster's desk in Aikin's House. It was a gift from staff members, the words ringing true of the man who was to guide Balmoral Hall's destiny for a decade - Tom Russell. No doubt the gift was inspired by admiration and respect, but its appropriateness went further, for Mr. Russell's dulcet tones could often be heard echoing through the hallways as he went about his daily routine. Here was a man truly enjoying what he did so well - caring for the education of his students. He had that unusual ability to relate to people of all ages and descriptions, from business magnates to Kindergarten munchkins lining up for cookies. All were met with a fine sense of decorum, and a lively sense of humor, and were made to feel that they belonged to a special community, the Balmoral Hall family.

In the warmth of his welcome there was no pretense, but rather genuine caring, and an integrity which inspired trust. The hand extended in welcome or congratulation was the same hand which organized and planned the year's events, penned so many enlightening and entertaining Newsletters, and carved the turkey at the Residence Christmas dinners.

It is now the hand that waves "goodbye", and we say "goodbye" to you, Tom Russell. Thank you for a job well done - you did do more, and you did do it better!

Mr. G.E. Gartrell
Assistant Headmaster

P.S. The Balmoral Hall Alumnae Association will host its first-ever REUNION '87 May 8, 9, 10, 1987 in Winnipeg. Let's see you there celebrating with your classmates.

HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

My final message in the Yearbook. It will, in actual fact, be the last during the Russell era. The editor has told me that after a decade of service to the school . . . "feel free to write as much as you like", and she also told me that the theme is to be "WE'VE GOT CLASS!" . . . and I COULD NOT AGREE MORE.

For me this is a year of looking over the ten years of my term as the school's Headmaster. So much has happened. The facility itself would be virtually unrecognizable to former students who return for a visit. The physical plant is outstanding and few schools, if any, can boast of such features as a Computer Laboratory, a 13,000 volume library and two well-equipped gymnasiums . . . and much, much more.

Over the years I have seen the enrollment grow from the two hundred range to in excess of three hundred and forty students and there are REAL waiting lists for places, particularly in the Junior school.

Most importantly, I have been most encouraged by the measurable improvement in academic standards. We are second to none in this regard and our graduating students are sought after by the best universities in Canada. Surely, there is no better testimony to the dedicated, caring staff than this fact . . . for when all is said and done, it is the teachers who hold the "key" . . . and here we are definitely well and truly served with distinction.

I confess to liking the theme of this Yearbook. At Balmoral

Fall Barbeque 1985 (Below)

Hall we do have CLASS . . . we can hold our heads up high.

At a Conference of Independent Schools which I attended recently, the topic of evaluation dominated the programme. One expert from the National Association of Independent Schools (USA) made this observation . . . "You can tell how well a school is functioning as soon as you walk along the corridors . . . if the vibes are right and you have a good feeling about the place, rest assured all is well." I know this is true of Balmoral Hall and many, many visitors have made such a comment. There is a happy, trusting environment and a sense of co-operation. This is what sets the school apart: THIS IS CLASS!

I know that I am leaving a school in good shape, and I have that personal satisfaction of a job well done. I shall miss the daily round of dealing with the various factions that make up the school "family" and I hope that my successor will have as much pride in the school as I have had over the years. It is not hard to get to love the halls of Balmoral and I leave you with this final word

...
"The secret of success is work!"
Don't let yourselves down . . .
for we pass this way but once.

Bless you all,
Sincerely yours,

N. THOMAS RUSSELL

A CHANCE TO BABBLE!

Well, well. I guess I'd better figure out what message I'd like to leave behind me, (since this has to be handed in to the publisher in two days), huh? So here goes nothing...

I'm sure I speak for many when I say that I am stunned by the speed with which this year has passed - unlike our younger school years, when time seemed to drag on forever. Personally, I had a great year, and I know that the experiences I had this year will remain with me for a long, long time. As Cecil once said, "Children bring out of the nursery that which displays itself throughout their lives." Hopefully, this is true, for all of us will certainly succeed after having received such an excellent education.

A good education does not always guarantee success though. This year, it was the helpful people around Balmoral Hall that brought our Yearbook to you, and without their help, I probably would have been weirder than I already was. Therefore, I'd like to thank Mrs. Sures and Mrs. Batters, (my advisers); Mr. Gartrell, (for the excellent piece on Mr. Russell); Miss Bonnett, (who always remembered me when she had pictures); Mrs. Baillie, (who taught me how to count from 10 to 1, not to throw chalk, and not to slam lockers); and everyone else who helped throughout the year. I couldn't have done it without you!

Lastly, to everyone in the school, and especially my classmates:

"All who have meditated on the art of governing mankind have been convinced that the fate of empires depends on the education of youth."

- Aristotle

The world of tomorrow is ours, so let's

Go for It!!

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Balmoral Hall Graduates:
Passing from Grade XII into the future is an exciting event in everyone's heart and mind. I join with the Board of Governors, parents and students in wishing you every success in your future years in life.

I know you must be viewing graduation with a combination of joy and nostalgia. Balmoral Hall is and will continue to be a thriving and vibrant hub of activity made so by the activity of the student body. Over the years you, as Graduates, and the senior girls in the School have been viewed as leaders. This will always be the case, but it is important to note, not only in your own minds but for those who will follow, that leadership is a quality that will serve you well in your future years. Combined with a high academic record, common sense and the desire to create your own paths should bring a challenge for the rest of your lives.

Our Best Wishes for the future are with you all!
Sincerely,

Kerry L. Hawkins
Chairman,
Board of Governors.

WESTERN BARBEQUE

This year's Western Barbeque found everyone enjoying themselves and helping out, from babies, (Above Left), to Board members like Mr. Kozminski, (Right). The star attraction was Magic Mike, who had a good audience, (Below), even though he revealed his secrets quite easily, (Bottom Right). While not watching Mike, two mysterious girls tried to bribe Rose with hugs, (center right).

JUNIOR SCHOOL ELECTION

The speeches by the candidates for Head Girl of Junior School were held during a Wednesday morning assembly, with the four candidates being Rebecca Dillon, Wendy Ip, Jane Nasser-Sharif and Elinor Simons, (large picture, Mrs. Hurst in center). Congratulations to all the candidates who "showed their stuff" for a job well done!!

WINSDAY

Welcome In New Students DAY was the old girls' day to be especially nice to the new girls. Starting off with a skit by the Prefects on how not to treat the new girls, the day also included lunches made by the old girls, and an assembly to introduce each of the new girls. Following the handing out of certificates, a "What Not to Wear" Fashion Show ended the day of camaraderie.

HALLOWEEN

Once again, Halloween came and went, but it certainly left its mark on Balmoral Hall.

As usual, this year's Halloween party was organized by Student Council, and with the help of the Grade 12's, it was a smash hit. We also had some new stations, such as the Headless Horseman, (Below).

Way to go everyone!!

THE JUNGLE BOOK

(An operetta presented by the Junior school girls.)

MAY DAY

Each year, we have a Father's Luncheon, followed by a Mother's Luncheon the next day, in the hope of having some good food (3), fun, and to celebrate May Day. Each year, the Grade 4's attempted the Maypole dance (4), but this year, we also had other entertainment. The senior choir danced and sang (1); Arifa Lucman and Manon Lisowski did a rhythmic gym routing (6); Jill Carter, Bridget Eldridge, Susan Fones and Lisa Hamburg also showed their skill at rhythmics (2). This year, we also had a new uniform fashion show, so we could see the upcoming uniform changes. The high point of the two days though, was the presentation of two paintings to the lady we all know as Rose (5). Rose has been a part of the BH family for several years, as a part of the kitchen staff, but had to leave this year for health reasons. Best of luck, Rose, we'll miss you greatly.

Partners for first term were Elinor Simons and Rebecca Dillon.

Jane Sharif (on right) aided Rebecca for the second term of school.

End of the year duties were handled with the help of Wendy Ip (left).

NOT JUST FOR JUNIORS

My year as Head Girl of Junior School has been a lot of fun. I have learned a lot and have come to understand the true spirit of BH.

This year could not have been successful without the help and encouragement of the Assistant Head Girls, Elinor Simons, Jane Sharif and Wendy Ip. Thank you all!

There were some special happenings in Junior School this year. Our choirs were exceptional and showed that exceptional and showed that working together brings greater results. Jump Rope for Heart was fun and we raised more than $4,000!

We were also very lucky to have Mrs. Hurst as our Head of Junior School. She was always helpful, fair and encouraging, and listened to all our suggestions. We will miss her and wish her well in Minneapolis.

It was with Mrs. Hurst's help that we in Grade 6 were able to restore a former tradition by having our first dance with SJR. It was a great success and enjoyed by all who attended, especially Mrs. Hurst and Mr. Kiddell!

It is sad to end part of your life by leaving Junior School, and I am especially sad to see this year end. Thank you for all your friendship and support, and I wish the new Head Girl as enjoyable a year as I had.

Love,
Rebecca

LIBRARY PREFECT

Well once again another year has come and gone and our library has acquired many new books. We have enjoyed visits from Ian Wallace (The Sandwich); Barbara Hicks (illustrator of The Bump); and Gordon Korman (Bruno and Boots). The several contests in the library this year were all a great success. Thank you to all who participated, as you were the ones who made them successful. Well, if it was not for Mrs. Law, we would not have excitement and enthusiasm in the library. Thank you to my committee for keeping the library supervision running smoothly and for assisting Mrs. Law and myself. A special thanks to Alexandra Johnson, who was the Junior School Library Prefect, for her assistance.

Best of luck in the future,

THE HEAD OF THE LIVE-INS

I would first like to extend my thanks to our Dean of Residence this year, Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, for making this year the best ever in Residence. I'm sure we would never have made it without you.

As life is full of ups and downs, so was Residence and this year we certainly had quite our fill.

Also, this year our student supervisor of residence from Ontario was definitely the "Light" of our lives. Miss Light joined us in January and stayed for the remaining two terms.

To the Residence students carrying on with life at BH, good luck. To the graduates I extend my good wishes and I hope that you find success in whatever you may do.

Sincerely,

Tamara Moore

CAROL . . .

So another year has flown by, and a busy one at that! Sports Council accomplished many things this year. There was the traditional swim meet, at a new pool, which was kind of nice. Unfortunately though, the track meet was rained out - a major way at that. The swim meet was great fun and enjoyed by all who attended. However, none of the events we planned could have been possible without a lot of organization from the House Heads. Congratulations to you all!!! But I think that the biggest thank you has to go to Mrs. Westdal. Without her help and

"spirit", intramurals would not have been nearly as good as they were this year!

Good luck to you all in the future. Go Ballater, Braemar, Craig Gowan and Glen Gairn!!

BALLATER

This year has been a great year in which Ballater has left its mark in many events, notably the swim meet, where our decreased numbers only served to increase our spirits.

Remember Green is beautiful, and frogs turn into princes! Good luck in the future.

GLEN GAIRN

In my opinion, this was one of the best years for sports at BH since I came to the school. (But of course I'm just a bit biased.)

We Glen Gairnites pulled a fast one and were actually in first place for approximately 8 days!! For this I'd like to congratulate all of you - give yourselves a hand! I enjoyed being House Head immensely, (fooled ya, didn't I?) and would like to congratulate my successor and tell her she's the Head of a great house. Be proud of it!

Keep up the great work guys, and let's continue to show that great Glen Gairn spirit!

Yours sincerely,

THE END OF THE ROAD

The Sacrifice

What a way to end my life! To think that at one time I was one of the most beautiful trees in the world. I grew up in a magical forest on the edge of time. This enchanted place is filled with every good thing one can imagine. A silvery haze hangs over the trees creating a mystical appearance. It is the land of dreams which many children visit during their night time adventures. This forest is looked after by a good fairy whose heart is always willing to give and give she did, for she saved me from a terrible fate, (but that's another story).

This little tale begins with a girl named Sarah who was very ill with a terrible disease that baffled the poor doctor. Her family had spent what little money they had on trying to buy the right medication, but no cure had been found. Her greatest desire was to have a beautiful Christmas tree, so much so that she could think of nothing else. Alas, her family was too poor to afford this luxury for her.

It was Christmas eve, and in her dreams, Sarah's desire for a tree was so great that she wandered into the magical forest. Suddenly she paused and her eyes looked up at my branches. More than anything else, she wanted to take me home and as she disappeared back into the beautiful mist, her beautiful eyes stayed gazing upon me.

I was so upset, for I knew somehow that this would be Sarah's last Christmas on earth and I wanted to make her happy. I decided to ask the fairy if I could be Sarah's Christmas tree decorated with all the lovely trimmings. The fairy was willing to grant my wish but said, "With all the wishes there must be a sacrifice. If you want to be Sarah's Christmas tree, you will never be able to return home to the forest that you love."

I thought for awhile, but I knew that I must make Sarah happy. My mind was made up and I asked the fairy to grant the wish.

On Christmas morning, I was shining brightly in Sarah's room. When she awoke she was thrilled - never had she seen such a beautiful tree. To see her so made the sacrifice for me seem worthwhile. That evening Sarah quietly left this world.

The next day, I began to feel ill, A part of me was missing. My branches felt dry and my needles started to fall. Sarah's parents wished to discard all memories of that Christmas day and after taking off all of the decorations, placed me on top of the trash heap. I felt as if my life, too, was over.

So this is where I am now. How I hate this dump. It really is so unfair that life should take this nasty turn. Oh how I wish that I could go back to the forest and make children happy again. What can I do here? What's that bright flash of light? Why, it's the good fairy, but, she too has a sad look on her face. The lovely fairy turns to stare at me and says, "My dear little tree, you have done such a good deed that it hurts me to see you so dejected. I cannot take you back home, for it would be against our laws, but I know of another place where I will send you. It is a land even more beautiful than your homeland, where you will once again be appreciated."

A new world appears in front of my eyes. It is everything the fairy promised and to complete my happiness, Sarah is here too.

The Secret Garden

The sun's hot, sultry rays beamed upon the gleamy stones. They glistened and twinkled as the clear drops of dew shimmered like jewels. The pastel pink lilacs smelled sweet and were intoxicating. The slim, radiating branches were laden with flowers like thick, creamy frosting on a cake. A thick carpet of pansies bordered a path which led to a rose garden. A rose bud as white as the January snow stood out elegantly from the deep, dark, blackish-green leaves. Thick, prism-shaped thorns jutted out like ever so many guards protecting a frail princess. As if made of thorn silk, the pointed and serrated leaves framed the delicate rose bud. A fiery crimson rose swayed in the scented breeze. The spicy aroma of a cotton candy coloured carnation drifted through the air. Splatters of turmeric yellow sparkled as if gold nail polish had been dripped upon the smooth, soft, satiny petals. A plump, pudgy bumblebee buzzed and hummed by my ear and nuzzled into the honey-sweet nectar of a marigold. The petals were ruffled like a taffeta prom dress. Dusk began to settle like a snow, incoming tide. Slowly and serenely, night fell.

To the Graduates:

Time comes and goes,
We think we hold it in our hands,
And find it slips away.
One by one it's good bye.
Not a blink, not a word,
Not even a sigh.
If only but for a little while,
We could bring back the hands of time
For the special moments,
The special times.
For a blink, for a word,
FOR EVEN A SIGH.

Paula Mottley (Grade 12)

Sprinter

Here are the tulips growing so fine,
But the snow falls and brings them out of line.
Sitting here I am half frozen,
I wish the sun had been chosen.
When the sun was shining I went to the zoo.
God could see what the monkeys would do.
I rode the zoo train and had great fun,
But then it snowed and burnt out the sun.
It's raining and it's so nice,
But then the puddles turned into ice.
Here I am all happy and gay,
And then it ended as a terrible day.

MRS. CANTLIE'S:

The Snake & The Slurpee
(A variation of an Aesop tale.)

Once upon a time there was a snake who lived in a city and used to watch human life from the corner of Niagara and Academy. He was very intrigued by the colourful slushy beverages served at the building. It seemed to the snake that the people who frequented the place were the most well liked of their race, and that they admired other reptiles, as was displayed on their clothing. (Could it be the paper cup beverages?!) One day in earnest the snake slithered across the road, hoping to meet some of these people, but he got ran over in the parking lot. Moral:

"Curiosity killed the snake."

A Beautiful Spring Day

NO SNOW. Wait . . . wait . . . there's still some along the fence.
Not much. But enough that it's noticeable.

DEAD BROWN DRIED UP SWAMPY
grass. Like permafrost when you walk on it.
Hmph. It IS permafrost

NO LEAVES. Wait . . . wait . . . there's some over there.

One, two, three, four -

No use counting. Let's just say there's a great big bunch left over from last fall on the ground. Actually the bunch isn't that big.

Garbage EVERYWHERE. Especially those yellow ties and brown paper bags and plastic and string from the newspaper bundles. EVERYWHERE.

NO SIGNS OF LIFE. Human life doesn't count.

Wait . . . there's a squirrel. And a few - let's see - one, two, three -

No use counting. Just a group of birds gossiping on our patio again.

No normal birds. And still no plants. Not counting evergreens.

NO SUN. Except when it gets in your eyes.

WET WET WET puddles. MUSHY SLUSHY GUMMY mud. There go my shoes.
Should have brought my rubber boots. Too late now. I'll learn one day.

FOOSH! There go my pantlegs. Should have worn a raincoat.

Kids in the muck. I feel like sitting in some myself.

Cheer up. I can't. Spring is not a season of tweetie birds, new lambs, Easter eggs, and butterflies. At least, not here.

Spring is DEAD BROWN DRY SOGGY grass, and WET WET WET puddles, and MUSHY SLUSHY GUMMY mud. NO SUN. JUST CLOUDS.

So much for a walk in the freshly polluted air.

FOOSH! There goes my jacket. I'll learn one day.

The World Without Evil

If all evil disappeared,
Bliss would return and be shared.

If all evil left this world,
Love and joy would be unfurled.

If all evil was forbidden,
Jubilation would not be hidden.

If all evil perished,
Life would have more reason to be cherished.

If all evil melted away,
There would be happier people today.

A crimson disc appears

The Coming of the Bucks

A forest growing taller
    Taller
        TALLER
Twisting branches sway
    Over the horizon.
Thousands upon Thousands
    Swaying gently in the breeze.
Thunder and Majesty
    Upon the horizon.
A Hedge of Bone binds the horizon
to the Blackened Sky.
The horizon and the sky are brothers,
Just like the Hedge and the Black.
Raindrops of Hooves
    Echo in the mountain.

Purple majesty, merely a prince; stands
While the flood of grey and tan and mustard
Washes its summits.
Like the Thunder They come
Bold as Lightening They come
The World is Theirs
All Majesty is Theirs
Only a shot
    disrupts the Silence of Majesty
Bold as Lightening, They still stumble on.
They are The Bucks.

Maggy

Your smile revealed the twinkle in your eye.
The one which loomed there your life through.
The one which never disappeared.

You found pleasure whereever you went.
Happiness followed you, more faithful
Than man's best friend.
You were there when your friend needed you,
Consoling, watching, helping
To understand all things.

You shared your knowledge, your happiness,
You shared your love.

You made happiness,
And let it reign at your side.

You were.
You are.
You shall be.
No need to know where,
But to know that you shall survive,
Even to death,
In my heart.

Chipee the Sled Dog

Chipee was a dominant fellow,
Grey, black, white and yellow.
He was a very good lead dog,
Always pulled through, even in fog.

Chipee was left behind before,
Well, he isn't anymore.
I will tell you about poor Chipee,
It is sad, you will see.

Chipee was in a very bad fight,
He was hurt, which wasn't very bright.
So they left him behind,
Which was not very kind.

They had chained his legs up,
And replaced him with a pup.
They left him for a while,
Till he threw them in a pile.

He looked for them for days and days,
As he crossed ice and snow in many ways.
Chipee found them at the 200 km mark,
He called to the dogs with a bark.

From then on he was the best lead dog,
"Chipee, oh Chipee lead us through the fog!"

Once upon a time there was a little girl. Her name was Samantha. One night she built a time machine. It took her back to dinosaur time. She met lots of dinosaurs. She went swimming with them. She found some fossils. She took them in her time machine and now they are in her Grade 1 classroom.

was a very active member of the BH Residence, and Res will definitely miss her. Wanda had avid interests in dieting, suntanning, figure skating, swimming, and K.B. Wanda was known for her incredible knack of getting exactly what she wanted, and when she set her mind on someone or something, look out!! For example, in Grade 12, Wanda attained her Nationals in swimming by giving up every Saturday and Sunday afternoon for 11 weeks. Congrats!

Next year, Wanda plans to terrorize the U. of M. Res, with a future in criminalology. All the best to you, Wanda, we'll miss you.

AVA (continued from page 82) homework, and somehow managed to look like she was wearing her unburnable kilt for the first time - even though she'd been wearing it for years! Av was also one of the artsy blond club, and we always looked forward to seeing one of her sketches.

In Grade 12, Ava's bright red TRUCK and her endless naming of guys that we never saw became her trademark. Ava's devotion to her truck was obvious, since she could often be seen taking it to the carwash during her double spares, even in the middle of winter!!

Thank you for being there when we needed you, Ava, and good luck in Clothing and Textiles at the U. of M.

SUSAN (continued from page 82)

quiet during school hours, it has come to my attention that Susan wasn't always that quiet. Coming to and from classes without a lot of fuss, Susan could often be heard mumbling to herself during Geography class, and, upon straightening out her thoughts several minutes after Mrs. Friesen had changed the subject, she would blurt out something like "Cocoa beans!" Obviously, this caused pure havoc, but we soon got used to it! Good luck next year, Sue, the halls of BH and the tables of Impressions will most certainly miss you.

a year she claims she barely remembers due to the culture shock experienced in French. Since then she has lived in (and escaped from) Residence, the obvious cause of her lethargic nature, (which was temporarily dismissed in Grades 8 and 10 with her duties as House head).

As a graduate of "pubehood" and an actual (rather than honorary) member of Grade 12, our artsy blond could often be seen on weekends at "The Note", or while in a more social consious mood, at Grapes searching out sockless preps. (Let's not forget her contributions to Lox or the infamous SJR functions.) Monica is also well known for her ruby lipstick, dark sunglasses and passion for white wine and/or Jewish men bearing edible kosher gifts. Monique's incredible talent is being forwarded to a) sometime, somewhere in the field of fine arts, b) perfecting her Marilyn image at Deke parties or c) maintaining her pseudo-intellectual approach to world economic systems. (Rumor has it that next year her roommate is no other than DAVID LETTERMAN?!?) "I love potatoes!!"

presence. She was active as both an academic and as an athlete. Her activities included figure skating, track, badminton, volleyball and basketball. In Grade 11, she was President of the Grad Committee, and in Grade 12 was a member of Executive Council in her capacity as Head Girl in Residence. Tamara always did have a knack for organizing things!

Out of school, Tamara's interests were in suntanning, Coke, and a certain S.S., as well as occasional trips to Texas. BH will certainly benefit from having Tamara's help in Residence in 86-87, as an authoritarian figure, this time around. We all hope to see her smiling face scouting the halls of U. of M. next year. We love you and good luck!

6. We will always remember Parita coming to school AFTER Monday morning assemblies ready to conquer Chem., Physics, Bio., the list goes on. As a result, she has successfully remained an Honour student since Grade 7. She finally cut her hair in Grade 12, and even received a Dodge Omni for Christmas. We will never forget the day that Parita came to school without her glasses, but not because she had lost them, as we'd expect, but because she got contacts. But, unlike everyone else, she stopped wearing them after a few weeks. We're not sure why, but she did mention something about dropping them in her tea!

While some of us went to Grandma Lee's or Sals for lunch, Parita could often be seen rushing off to McDonald's with a carload of hungry girls. The hilarious thing about this was that Parita went to McD's EVERY DAY! In fact, when we couldn't find her at school, we knew that she had to be at McD's.

Parita plans to pursue a career in Medicine at the U. of M. Hey, Parita, where are you going this break? St. Rose again?! Best of luck in the future, Parita, and we will always remember you as "Parita in Pink".

that her good marks aren't a result of Janice's having studied everything back home, or whether she really is that brilliant!

One of the many Res girls in our class, Janice hailed from Malaysia, although she must have forgotten what it looks like, since she never went home during school breaks. London, Australia, Toronto, Singapore, where will she go next? Actually, she's off to the University of Toronto next year to pursue a career in Computer Science. Best of luck, Janice, we will always remember you!

Way back in Grade 8, a rather short person with frizzy hair joined the ranks of the class of '86. Soon after her arrival, we all knew who Joey was, but we weren't sure if she was just kidding or was sorry! Everyone in the class will remember that EVERY one of Joey's comments was followed by "Just kidding." or "I'm sorry." We finally got her to stop saying this, but only by using brute force!

Joey's main method of transportation was a red station wagon. When asked if she had a car at school, Joey would either say she had her mom's car or her dad's car - but she always had a red station wagon. It wasn't until the end of Grade 12 that we all found out that there were TWO IDENTICAL red stations wagons!

Joey's dream for a long time was to become a vet, but circumstances have not allowed her to carry through with this, so she has decided that helping humans will do her just fine. Good luck in Nursing when you get there, Joey, and have a good time at the U. of M. in Arts in the meantime!

primarily for keeping to herself, and we were all surprised when the real Shilpa showed herself! Shilpa's many memorable incidents are too numerous to mention, but they included such things as her awe-inspiring knack for being able to silence a whole room with her wacko comments; her duties as SELF-appointed class psychiatrist; her readiness for grad - grad date and all - in September; her daily "Soni Smile"; her back seat driving; her duo personality of studious student during the day and party animal at night; and her many lunches away from the school, (could she have been one of the carload?) Shileepa was also quite teasable - but managed to get revenge on me, one of the worst. Who that was present will forget Shilpi's proudness at getting me with that ice cold pail of water? (Congrats on that one, Shilp!) Happy studying in medicine, but remember, doctors need personalities . . .

NEELAM (cont. from page 83) lively atmosphere at the school. Neelam was very outgoing and was also known for her extremely large wardrobe, the bulk of it coming from Le Chateau. Along with her "neat" clothes, Neelam used a heck of a lot of hairspray in order to keep up her chic image, and upon entering a bathroom after Nee, a strange smell often pervaded the air.

Neelam's phenomenal appetite was always a major discussion in the lunchroom; that is, we discussed, and she ate! One of the two people to miss Closing Exercises, we were wondering whether Neelam would get her diploma - did you? If she did, Neelam will be attending the U. of M. next year to pursue a career in Sciences. So, if you want to find her, just look around for the burgundy haired girl, wearing the Le Chateau clothes and followed by the smell of French Formula! Best of luck always, Neelam.

one who got frostbite over spring break rather than a tan. Very active from the beginning, Joelle was an important part of the volleyball and basketball teams and set records in track and field. She was one part of the "Fearless Two" during floor hockey games and was frequently discussed during Sports Council meetings.

Among her many interests were sharks, wrestling, pirates, Banola Bar Bunnies, fetal pigs ("Tess"), Conan, heavy metal music and writing, especially poetry, and she will be going into Journalism next year at Carleton. Her curly hair, smiling face and uniqueness of humour will always be remembered by her friends. Good luck in the future Jo Jo Babe. May all your dreams come true.

"Nancy Jane" suddenly became a big part of BH in Grade 8. With her socks down and top button undone (or was it missing?), her contributions were many, including her roles as Grade 11 Class President and School Captain for the 85-86 year. Adventure and spirit were portrayed in many crazy events by Nancy - which is a lot to ask of a girl who swam at 5:30 a.m. several times a week. The teachers were very grateful that Nancy's house was so close to the school, or she wouldn't have been able to rush home to her forgotten books. Perhaps Nancy will return to the halls of BH in the future to race McDonald's "Fast Mac" cars down them once again.

As befitting her individualistic nature, Nancy will be continuing her education at Dalhousie University, King's College, in the Foundation Program. Best of luck, and have a FAB time!

JILL (continued from page 86) President in Grade 10, Secretary of Grad Committee in Grade 11 and Head Girl for the 85-86 year. She was frequently seen running through the hallways with orange messages dangling from her fingers. She had the unique ability of speaking loudly at the wrong time.

Jill's one dark time was in Grade 10, when she joined Gang X, a gang noted for its violence and eggnapping. Jill took Bio during the summer before Grade 12 so that she'd have more time for her Head Girl duties, but McDonald's duties soon became the top of her list.

Thanks a lot for having the after grad party Jill, it was a blast! Too bad that we couldn't bop to the strains of Madonna's "Celebrate-Holiday" all night! Good luck at the U. of M. in Clothing and Textiles next year - and don't strain yourself by watching TV too many Saturday nights!

Along with her smile, Steph introduced Res to some of the best hotel parties they'd ever experienced, and sometimes took people to McDonald's in the Mercedes that snowed through the air vents. (Was it the same one that took you to 7-Eleven to satisfy your Hogie craving the night before your History exam?)

Hope you keep up your snappy dressing, Steph, and good luck in your future endeavours that are starting at the U. of M. in the fall. Keep smiling, too!!

KRIS (continued from page 86) for the job as she came from the golden yellow fields of Saskatchewan. Weyburn's loss proved to be the gain of BH, Res, SJR, and Winnipeg in general. Yes, Kris was, and I suppose still is, well-liked by everyone, which was probably the cause of her thousands of friends. In fact, did anyone NOT like Krisable?

Banjee was not often the instigator of any major event, but still pulled some crazy stunts like when she took a multitude of pictures on ski weekend in Grade 12 - of only one or two things! Of course, we will all remember Kris for her lovable, outgoing and helpful personality.

Have a great university career and good luck after that, Kris, whether you go to U. of Sask, Western, Queen's or the U. of M.! We'll miss you, so keep in touch!!

could contain the energy that emitted from Audra, especially in floor hockey, where she became known as the other half of the "Fearless Two".

Audra could be found on bright sunny days windsurfing or riding horses, which somehow suited her appearance. She played the piano and loved writing, especially poetry, but we will never forget her stories about "Ye Bluha".

In her last year here, she became Head of Ballater, which tested her patience and sanity. During Sports Council, she was often found defending the "Fearless Two's" actions during the last intramurals. Audra's unique sense of humour and bubbly laughter will be forever remembered by those who knew her at BH. Good luck in Commerce next year!

job this year managing the Yearbook, newspaper AND canteen. (Thanks, guys!) She was thought to have gotten all her boundless energy from her ever present can of Coke (BURP). Although Angela was very capable of defending her own opinions, she could never quite reason with certain Grant Park music lovers, who extensively "injured" her car. Angela's high grades kept her on the Honour Roll every year, but she has hidden talents as well; in Grade 11 she was able to fit 200 people into half a duplex. Being one of Mrs. Baillie's favorites, rumour has it that Angela receives mysterious wake-up calls when she misses tests. Bonne chance dans l'avenir, Angela. May you never be without a box of Junior Mints, and remember, Confucius say: Stay away from frat houses, they're dangerous!

team member of every sports team at the school and in Grade 12, the Library Prefect. "Clancy" could usually be seen in one of two places: busy stamping books or parked at the side parking lot picking up young Tuxedo residents in her sparkling clean station wagon. Her weekly rendez-vous with Dale Hawerchuk were always anticipated with great enthusiasm. It is also thought that Nancy set a new record by starting to work on her tan for grad in October, but she was very disappointed when the plans for grad at Grapes on Main were cancelled. Rumour also has it that Nancy and Carol could retire on the profits from selling Coles notes on the black market if there was ever a shortage. Best of luck in Commerce next year, Nancy, and may you find that split level in the suburbs you've always wanted!

soccer (11), drama (7-10), choir (7-11), and the French Competition (11-12). She was also vice-president of her class in Grade 7 and whom better do we know as "Miss Canteen"?

Ruth has this strange habit of being bubbly when everyone else is unhappy. This does not mean that she never gets upset or depressed, but take her to Rotten Ronnie's for lunch and feed her a Big Mac, a Quarter Cheese, 2 large fries, a chocolate shake and a hot fudge sundae and she'll be just fine.

Ruth is best known for her tail, which she finally grew out of; her house parties; and her ability to come up with great ideas at the wrong time. She is also well known for being the only person with a strange white line down the middle of her jeans, which she claims is the washing machine's fault.

In her BH years, Ruth has learned to walk, sing, dance, speak without braces and deal with romance (which she is still dealing with). Ruth is off to the U. of M. next year as a Commerce student, and I know that she will perform to her best

In her Grade 12 year, Onalee was a member of the Uniform Committee. Believe it or not, Onalee also had time to get good marks!

Onalee spent most of her after-school life in Gr. 7 & 8 doing the dirty work of the school, in the detention room! How someone who was such an obnoxious brat turned out to be such a good person, we'll never know. After all this, Onalee even managed to go out with 46 guys in Grade 7 alone. Possibly for this alone, BH wouldn't have been the same without Onalee. Next year, Onalee is off to St. Olaf's College in Minnesota to study business. We wish you all the luck in the world! We'll really miss you Josephine - have fun at UCLA, and keep in touch!

Since Carolyn joined the ranks of private school life, her fabulous smile and wild personality have brightened our classrooms. Our crazy blond responds to many titles, from Grasshopper, Skinny, C-3, to Maniac, and has been an active participant in BH ranging from jungle combat in the hallways, the Grandma Lee's Coffee Club, Batter's Aerobic Hour, to being the founder of the BH Breakers. Although her grade point average is high enough to place her on the Honour Roll, the cost of B.F.'s weekly phone calls have been known to outdo it. For the answer to Kris' question, (Mrs. Baillie, what happened to the sin?), just ask Carolyn! By the way, don't forget to buy some flour, Dennis is coming over. Best of luck in the future, and say hi to Guido's cousin for us! Coming from a St. James "Squash" family in Grade 8, starving of cultural influence, Carol tripped quietly into the "intellectual world" of BH. "Sorry, Jonathan, I simply won't be able to do lunch at Maxim's Friday next - GOTTA PLAY SQUASH!" was a variation of one of Carol's often repeated lines. Expert in Physics and Chem., Carol could often be found consulting with Mrs. W. in her capacity as Sports Captain. Our 5'5" bubbly brunette was commonly seen on windy days being blown clear across the field because of lack of support from her size 5 feet. We hope that our future Dr. Carol McCullough will refrain from passing out in the OR. Miss ya' lots, Carol, we know your vitality will pull you through Med. school!

Leslie joined Balmoral Hall in Grade 8, never to return to the normal life of public school again. Leslie has definitely left her mark in the 5 years that she has been at BH. Notorious for her somewhat "different" lunches, Les could often been seen munching on packaged cold cuts, cream cheese and olive sandwiches, to blocks of bacon cheese, and frozen pizza crusts. She will never be forgotten at SJR dances for displaying her breakdancing moves in the hallways, (are you getting a little warm, Les?) Les is off to the U. of M. next year where she'll be majoring in men over 5'10", also a soon to be released novel, sequel to Leslie's last book: "Big Feet - We're a Dying Breed!"

Good luck, Lesya, and I hope you find the dream man at the daytime Scandals.

When not at BH Breakers practice, Cheryl could be found at "Baba Lee's", sipping coffee and contemplating the meaning of life. Being a true intellect, Cheryl seemed to attract men with great literary interests, receiving strange packages from them in the mail. During her time at BH, Cherie's mode of transport progressed from the "bump-down-stairs" theory to the Duster. Cher-Bear was very attentive to her physical appearance, and could often be heard saying "I need a haircut!" whilst munching on a celery stick. The walls of BH will forever echo with "The Chicken Theme", "Hawaii 5-O", and jungle sounds. As Ronald Reagan would say, "God bless you, Cheryl!"

THE '86 GRADUATES

ALUMNAE TEA

An annual tradition, for those that may not know, is the Mother and Daughter Tea hosted by the Alumnae Association. At this tea, the Graduates are welcomed into the ranks of the Alumnae with good food, talk, and a special ceremony at which we all leave our mark at BH - in a cement step in the back yard! This year, the '86 Grads were also privileged enough to receive silver chains on which hung pendants embossed with our BH crest. Thanks again to the Alumnae for their generosity.

VALEDICTORY

Honoured guest, Mr. Russell, parents, teachers and friends:
WE MADE IT!!

Last year when I was honoured to be named "Head Girl" of Balmoral Hall, any delight I felt was immediately followed by the terror of knowing that I was going to have to stand up here today and address all of you, on our last day as students at BH.

During this year I have spoken several times, learned many new things, experienced much delight and happiness and today I feel only pleasure that I can give this address on behalf of all the girls in my class.

Over the past several months we have spent most of our time looking ahead to OUR grad dance, and today, OUR Closing Exercises - we have also been considering all of our options for universities, what courses we will take, and whether we will be in residence or at home. We have made many decisions about our future and today I would like to reflect a little on our past.

How well I remember my first opening assembly. A sea of green kilts, where everyone seemed to have a best friend. Who would be mine? It wasn't long before we had many great friends.

Most of you assembled here today are our parents. Our first thanks is to you, for sending us to BH and supporting us throughout our years here.

Seated behind the grads and among the students are the teachers. We all have many different memories of every single one of them:

We may forget how to conjugate the past plus-perfect of the verb "etre",

- or how to phrase a sentence,

- or that a gerund is a verb that acts as a noun, or is it a noun that acts as a verb? Well ... anyway,

- we may forget the formulas for the cos and sin laws,

- or that a clothesline with a pulley is not only to hang clothes on,

BUT -

We will never forget the math teacher who thinks she strikes terror into the hearts of all her students, but we know she's a marshmallow, for nothing is too much trouble when it comes to helping one of her girls,

- or the fast moving scientist who is also a closet historical romance author,

- or our fabric arts class where we learned a lot more about stitchery, but a whole lot more about life,

- the Phys. Ed. teacher who told us how great we all looked in green bodysuits, and did so with a straight face,

- or our history buff who was also our chief conciliator teaching us that there were always two sides to a story, and that a peaceful solution is preferable to a confrontation,

- and finally, the "judge who stands in front of assemblies". Mr. Russell gave us a theme to be our motto throughout the year, among them co-operation, respect, responsibility, and routine. These are the words that we would use to describe him, and we would add - a touch of class!

These are only a few of the memories that we will have of our years at BH.

To Mr. Russell, the teachers, our parents and to the friends we have turned to for comfort - we thank you.

I would like to conclude today's address with a memorable quote from T.S. Eliot:

"What we call the beginning is often the end, and to make an end is to make a beginning. The end is where we start from."

Thank you and good luck,

Jill Condra
Head Girl

2ND ANNUAL GR. 12 CANOE TRIP

Very early on the morning of Friday, June 13th, 1986, 10 BH graduates began to stir and somehow managed to make it to school earlier than they had probably been for a long time. Why, you may ask? Because we were all crazy enough to want to spend a day paddling and portaging only to spend two days in the bush and another day getting out! (It seemed like a good reason at the time.)

After a short drive to the Big Whiteshell, our adventure really began. Each of us were responsible for our own packs, (in which were our own clothes and a share of the food), and pairs of us were responsible for carrying the canoes that we used. At first, some of us had to make two trips over the portages, one with our packs and one with our canoes, but on the way out, all of us except for one group, (Ruth? On? Shilpa? No!?), were so anxious to get home that we almost jogged carrying everything - packs, canoes, lifejackets AND paddles!

Actually, it was a very relaxing weekend, once we got there, for our chores were minimal, there was a lake to go swimming in, and a sauna to warm up in after swimming. I think everyone had a great time, especially when we had "Short Arm Inspection" and sing-a-longs in the evening! Thanks to Mrs. Westdal for organizing everything and Mr. Westdal and Mr. Gartrell for sharing their time and experience with us. And remember, everyone, Shilpa gets it - CHUCK!!

Unsuspecting participants were: Mr. Gartrell, Mr. Westdal, Leslie, Nancy. Middle Row: Wanda, Ava, Shilpa, Carol, Mrs. Westdal, Angela. Front: Ruth, Joey & Onalee.
